THE NEWARK

VOLUME 53—NUMBER 65.

NEWARK, OHIO, WEDNESDAY EVENING, AUGUST 23, 1917

GREAT BOTTLE COMPANY

With Capital of Ten Million Just Organized in Newark.

New Concern Takes in the Plants of Ohio Bottle Company Including Everett Factory—Mr. Everett Makes An Official Statement—Officers Not Elected.

The American Bottle company, with a capitalization of $10,000,000 and headquarters at Newark, filed articles of incorporation at Columbus Tuesday afternoon with the Department of State. The purpose of the concern is to manufacture bottles, glass, glassware, to do a gas, mining and coal business, construct pipe lines and numerous other things pertaining to the business. The capital stock is to be divided into $4,000,000 in common and the same amount in preferred, while the balance will be special. The preferred will bear interest at 7 per cent. The incorporators are: Edward H. Everett, Mather W. Jack, William J. Crane, Oren G. King, John O'Brien, Walter Reeves, Jacob C. Haring, Lorenz S. Stehr and Fred L. Geddes. Several of these gentlemen live in Newark, and others in Streator Ill. The state realizes a fee of $10,000 for the charter.

Edward H. Everett, one of Newark's foremost citizens, is the leading man in this vast enterprise. Mr. Everett is at the head of the Ohio Bottle company, including the Everett glass factory of this city, which forms a part of the new organization.

"The people of Newark will be much interested to learn of your plans. Mr. Everett, and the Advocate would like to publish an authorized statement from you," said a reporter for this paper to the glass manufacturer today. Mr. Everett is quoted as follows:

"Replying to your inquiry in reference to The American Bottle Company of Newark, Ohio, recently incorporated in this state, I have this to say: 'The American Bottle company has acquired a large and valuable trade and business by the purchase of bottle manufacturing plants, which are all going concerns and the purchase includes the entire plants with all factory buildings, etc., the real estate upon which they are situated, together with the good will.

"The factories this company will immediately acquire include all the plants heretofore the property of the Adolphus Busch Glass Manufacturing company of St. Louis, Mo., some of these plants being located in Belleville, Ill., also all the property belonging to The Streator Bottle and Glass company, of Streator, Ill., all the factories belonging to The Ohio Bottle company of Newark, Ohio, located at Massillon, O., Wooster, O., and Newark, O.

"By the purchase of the above going concerns, The American Bottle company will avoid long delays, expense and risks otherwise necessary for establishing and building up the same.

"Also their geographical location for transportation, etc., are splendidly situated to supply the trade promptly and with a minimum freight rate.

"The American Bottle company did not purchase the plant of The Newark Machine Bottle company, but succeeds The Ohio Bottle company as sole selling agent for The Newark Machine Bottle company."

It is known that fires are now burning in a number of the plants of the new company and business will start in Newark and in the other factories before long. The Newark plant employs about 1500 people and burns Licking county natural gas from the Everett wells. Mr. Everett having extensive interests in the Central Ohio gas field.

The new company has not as yet elected its directors and officers, but the organization will be perfected within a day or so.

The Newark Machine Bottle company which has a plant in this city, and whose product will be sold by the new company, has a new machine which makes 14 perfectly formed bottles a minute.

MICHAEL BURKE, AGED 103, COMES TO NEWARK TO MAKE HIS HOME

Spry as Man Half His Years This Centenarian's Faculties Are Alert and His Physical Health is Perfect--He Talks to the Advocate.

Newark's oldest citizen in point of years, and one of the youngest considered from the length of residence, is Michael Burke, who arrived in Newark Tuesday and will live with his two sons on Wilson street.

Mr. Burke is 103 years old, having been born in County Mayo, Ireland, in 1822. He came to America in 1832, and walked from New York to Pennsylvania where he secured work. He was employed in the building of all the early railroads through Pennsylvania and Ohio, doing contract work on these lines. He came to Ohio, for 57 years he was a resident of Ohio, most of which time was spent in Perry and Lawrence counties.

Mr. Burke of late years has been living with his daughter, Mrs. Mary Bird, in Hannibal, Mo., and arrived here Tuesday. He has four children, Patrick and Peter of Newark, Michael, an employee of the Grand Hotel, in Cincinnati, and Mrs. Bird.

Upon his arrival in Newark he had considerable difficulty in locating his two sons, who had not been apprised of his coming, but was finally directed to Michael Burkson's office in Wilson street, which adjoining the new building recently erected by Patrick and Peter Burke at 273 Wilson street, which will be used as a saloon as soon as the fixtures arrive. The centenarian went to his sons' place and knocked on the door, and was cordially received by his sons, who were agreeably surprised by their father's coming.

Mr. Michael Burke Sr., was seen and interviewed by an Advocate reporter Wednesday morning. He is as spry as a man of half his years; his faculties are alert and his physical health is perfect.

He is a man who is slightly under the average in height but as erect as an arrow. He talks with a rich Irish brogue that delights the ear.

"Sure and ye may put a challenge in the paper, that I stand ready and willing to wrestle any man in Licking county, over a hundred years old, for a big side bet."

It is hardly probable that the match under the conditions suggested, can be arranged.

Mr. Patrick Burke is also rather a remarkable man. He was introduced to the reporter by Mr. Ed. McGonagle who has known the family for years.

Patrick Burke speaks fluently English, German, Irish, Italian, Spanish, Hungarian, French and Slavonic. He has acted as interpreter in the Perry county courts for years and although he has only been in Newark three weeks has already been impressed into service here in the same capacity.

JOHN G. JONES WANTS NAN PATTERSON TO GIVE BACK THAT MARVELOUS RABBIT'S FOOT

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—John G. Jones, a defunct caterer at the Tomb's prison, is after Nan Patterson's scalp. Jones' ire has been aroused by a missing rabbit's foot. According to Jones he was for a long time the possessor of a charm of marvelous powers that brought freedom to anyone accused of murder.

In the natural order of events the charm came into the hands of Nan Patterson, but she failed to return it. Jones avers that Bertha Claiche, who is awaiting trial, is pining away for want of it, and he has consulted a lawyer, who contemplates getting out a writ of habeas corpus for the charm.

ALL FACTORIES ARE CLOSED

Rioting in Poland Despite the Strong Military Measures.

STRIKERS ATTACKING SHOPS

State Railroads, Tramways and Telegraph Lines Tied Up—Duma Project Denounced at a Public Meeting Held at Moscow—Famine in Five Russian Provinces.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 23.—Owing to the strong military measures adopted the strike in Poland will not become general. Many shops are open and only a few banks, insurance companies and commercial offices are closed. Still the situation is serious. Practically all the factories at Warsaw and Lodz are closed. Serious rioting has occurred at the latter place, the strikers forcing the shops to close by smashing the windows. The strike on the state railways and tramways continues, and the telegraph communication between Lodz and Warsaw is discontinued. The newspapers are not appearing at Lodz.

At a public meeting held in the town hall at Moscow, the emperor's manifesto on the duma project was discussed. One speaker denounced the manifesto and the project in violent terms. Another urged armed rebellion. Later the municipal officials entered the hall and the mayor, Prince Galitzin, made a speech, after which a resolution was adopted which declared that the meeting attached great value to the constitution of the duma as the first step toward participation of the public in the work of legislation, but that it fully realized that a national government was possible only on the condition that the Russian people be given immediately all civil rights, freedom of the press, freedom of speech and meeting and inviolability of person, and urged that changes be made based on the principle of universal suffrage in order to restore the complete calm of the country.

The minister of agriculture stated that the reports that famine conditions were threatened in 22 provinces were greatly exaggerated. The situation, he said, was no worse than it was July 28, when the situation was had in six provinces of the Volga basin and in central Russia, and though assistance would be required to tide over the winter, there was no fear of a general famine. At that time also the minister said the harvest in other parts of Russia was generally from fair to good, and it was believed Russia would have grain to export.

Alleged Conspirators.
Moscow, Aug. 23.—It is reported here on good authority that a revolutionary conspiracy has been discovered among the troops encamped in the outskirts of Moscow, and that 26 arrests, including those of some officers, were made before the conspirators had a chance to become active.

HERRICK AT OYSTER BAY.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Gov. Herrick is expected to call on the President this afternoon.

JUDGE MULLENS

Removes Henry M. Beatty as Assignee of Western State Bank—Trust Company is Named.

Denver, Aug. 23.—Judge Mullens in the district court removed Henry M. Beatty as assignee of the Western State bank and named the Continental Trust company to act instead. The trust company immediately filed bonds in the sum of $1,935,000. The reasons given by Judge Mullens for his action are that Beatty is a defendant in the suit pending against the bank and that as cashier Beatty paid to the local acie of Eagles money which they had on deposit after the bank had closed its doors, thereby doing an injustice to other depositors. Attorneys for Beatty at once applied to the supreme court for a stay of proceedings, and Justice Campbell issued an oral order restraining Judge Mullens from further action.

WHILE AT WORK

Farmer and Son Are Assassinated by an Unknown Party.

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 23.—George Smith and James D. Smith, father and son and well-to-do farmers of Elmville, a little village of this county, were murdered while at work in the field on their farm, by an unknown party. The elder Smith was killed instantly, a charge of shot penetrating his brain. The son received three wounds, one in the face and two in the back, given evidently as he sought to escape his murderer. Suspicion turned to Cal Newton, a neighboring farmer of equally good standing, and he was arrested. He denies guilt.

Thomas E. Waggaman, late treasurer of the Catholic university at Washington, was indicted by the Federal grand jury for embezzlement in connection with his management as trustee of an estate.

ENVOYS

Read and Correct Protocols at Morning Session

MAY ADJOURN TO SATURDAY

PEACE TREATY MAY YET RESULT FROM THE CONFERENCE

If Mikado Makes Concessions That are Contemplated Czar Will Agree And War Will End.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 23.—Witte announces that the protocols were read and corrected at this morning's session and the conference adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The reading and comparison of the protocols occupied the whole of the forenoon session today. It is the intention when this afternoon's session adjourns not to meet again until Saturday to give time for further communication with Tokyo and St. Petersburg.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 23.—The meetings of the peace envoys were resumed this morning. Since they adjourned Friday, apparently almost hopelessly divided, many things have happened and much has been accomplished towards reconciling the differences. It is felt that there is good warrant for the expectation that a peace treaty will be the eventual outcome of the deliberations. Today's session is expected to be most important. It may determine the issue of peace or war. Special arrangements have been made to keep President Roosevelt informed of any development. The telegraph wire cut into the navy yard headquarters Adviser Denison was withing by Oyster Bay. At the Japanese rectly connects the conference building guard. Secretary Pokotiloff performed the same duty at Russian headquarters. The envoys left for the conference this morning smiling. The session began at 9:30 o'clock. The first business was the reading for comparison and signature of protocols of the previous meetings.

Peace between Russia and Japan is assured if the Mikado's government makes at today's session of the plenipotentiaries the concessions it contemplates. The Japanese proposition is this: "If Russia will buy from her the island of Sakhalin, now in possession of her army, Japan will waive her claim for reimbursement of the war expenditures, relinquish her demand for the surrender of the interned Russian ships and the proposition for the limitation of Russia's naval strength in the far East. These have been the only questions in dispute. It is due to intervention of the President that modifications of Japan's original demands were determined upon.

Russia's decision not to accept the principles of the articles of the Japanese peace terms which provides for the payment of the Japanese war expenses is irrevocable. This announcement was made unofficially this morning. This attitude of the envoys, it is understood, is based upon a message from the Czar to Witte received this morning directing the Russian plenipotentiaries to resist all attempts to secure Russian endorsement of the principle of indemnity under any circumstances. Before the Russian envoys will treat for the purchase of the island of Sakhalin or the reimbursement to Japan for the cost of keeping prisoners of war Japan must withdraw without condition, and demand for reparations for the cost of the military and naval operations. If further negotiations are to be resumed it will depend upon the attitude of the Japanese envoys. The elimination of this article from the peace negotiations would relieve Russia of a charge that she had purchased peace at the payment of an indemnity.

MESSAGE TO ENVOYS

Agreement by Russia Sought to Repurchase Either All or Half the Island of Sakhalin.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 23.—As the result of his interview with Baron Kato at Oyster Bay, the Russian plenipotentiary, Count Marquis, has acted as the president's representative in communication with the Japanese plenipotentiaries. The president's message to the Japanese plenipotentiaries, which was delivered by the Russian plenipotentiary, was a suggestion that the conference should be resumed on Saturday. The president's suggestion was that the conference should be resumed on Saturday, and that the Japanese plenipotentiaries should be given the opportunity to make a statement to the president or that it has been declined by Mr. Conger. At any rate it is believed Mr. Conger will not go to China.

MURDER

Tragedy Occurred in a Respectable Residence on South Side—Desperate Struggle Between a Woman and a Man—Swarm of Detectives Disappears in the Dark.

ATTEMPTED TO KILL

Chicago, Aug. 23.—A tragedy occurred in a respectable residence on the South Side of Chicago Tuesday night, in which a woman was killed and a man was wounded. The victim was Mrs. E. F. Wilson of 345 Cruces, M., also a guest at the hotel, she was out for a short walk. They had gone two squares from the hotel when they were confronted by a man who demanded their money. All along Fifty-ninth street and on Washington avenue people were sitting upon verandas and in the front yards of their residences, and Mrs. Mize, evidently expecting help from some of them, vigorously attacked the robber, at the same time calling loudly for help. Mrs. Wilson turned and ran back toward the hotel.

Mrs. Mize was able to utter just two cries for aid when the robber shot her through the heart, killing her instantly. Mrs. Wilson, who was looking back at the time, fell in a faint, and when the residents of the neighborhood came running in response to the calls of Mrs. Mize they found both women lying upon the sidewalk.

The murderer, after shooting Mrs. Mize, fled into an alley and disappeared in the darkness. A swarm of detectives and uniformed policemen were on the ground in a few minutes, but for the time being the murderer made good his escape. The side of Mrs. Mize's white shirtwaist was scorched by the flash of the revolver, and it was the opinion of the police that the robber thought Mrs. Mize intended to hold him until aid arrived, and shot her down to escape possible arrest.

TAINTED MONEY

The Theme of a Resolution Drafted by Doctor Gladden.

Boston, Aug. 23.—Dr. Washington Gladden of Columbus, O., moderator of the national council of Congregational churches, has sent to the officers of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions a criticism of the statement of principles issued by the prudential committee of the board in relation to the acceptance of so-called "tainted money." Dr. Gladden also forwarded a resolution on the acceptance of gifts by the board which he intends to offer at the annual meeting of the board in Seattle, Wash., Sept. 14 to 18. Following is the resolution: "Resolved, that the officers of this society should neither solicit nor invite donations to its funds from persons whose gains are generally believed to have been made by methods morally reprehensible and socially injurious."

ADRIFT ON LAKE

Both Young Man and Woman in a Serious Condition Because of Exposure and Lack of Sleep.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—After being afloat on Lake Michigan since Sunday evening in a small rowboat, John Chatter and Miss Zeldia Stewart of Evanston have been rescued. Both were in a precarious condition because of exposure and lack of nourishment and sleep. On Sunday afternoon Chatter called at the residence of Miss Stewart and asked her to go boat riding. They rented a small skiff and went out into the lake. About two hours after they departed a small "swept" over the lake. Chatter explained that during the squall one of his oars was broken, and that being unable to propel the boat he had devoted all his energies to keeping it afloat.

CONGRER

Resigns His Position as Ambassador to Mexico.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Edwin H. Conger of Iowa has resigned his post as American ambassador to Mexico to take effect Oct. 18 next, and President Roosevelt has accepted the resignation. Mr. Conger's resignation from the diplomatic service was forwarded to the president yesterday. It was indicated then that he would be sent to Beijing as a special commissioner of the president to adjust the long-standing differences which have existed between this country and China over the legacy of American goods in the hands of Chinese commercial agents. While no official statement is out at this time regarding the mission, there are reasons for the statement that either has been abandoned by the president or that it has been declined by Mr. Conger. At any rate it is believed Mr. Conger will not go to China.

MINER ON WITNESS STAND IN TAGGART DIVORCE TRIAL TODAY

Captain's Superior Officer Testifies He Was Not Intoxicated at That Celebrated Dinner Party and Did Nothing That Was Improper--Drank Very Little.

Wooster, O., Aug. 23.—Brigadier General Miner was on the stand in the Taggart trial this morning. Miner's admission that the annual report made at the time he is accused of conspiracy against Capt. Taggart contains demerits that should not be in it and omits merits that should be included, was taken up.

"I want to make a correction in my testimony," said Miner. "My first order after the report of Taggart's attack on his wife came to me was one I sent to Lieut. Fort-que. I ordered him to keep away from Taggart's house pending a settlement of the trouble because of the manner in which Fort-que's name had been connected with the affair."

"General," asked the cross-examining attorney, "were you drunk on the night of the celebrated dinner party?"

"I was not," said Miner. "At all the dinners we had there was a cocktail before dinner and a claret and a sherry on the table. I drank very little."

Agam Miner denied that he had ever playfully pushed Mrs. Taggart, and he would be called on her when Taggart was not at home.

The official medical record of Taggart's confinement in the hospital at Fort Leavenworth was introduced. It records that Taggart was "Sick in hospital July 2 to 8; disease contracted in line of duty, under arrest July 2; commanding company after July 8."

"I thought Taggart was mentally unbalanced by his service in the Philippines," said Miner. "After Taggart had been in the hospital several days Surgeon Hoff reported he had found no sign of a mental disturbance. I ordered him released several days later."

"Do you mean you sent back to his command in charge of a company armed with deadly weapons an officer you believed was mentally unsound?"

"I accepted the surgeon's report," said Miner.

A copy of the report made by Miner of the quarrel between Taggart and his wife subsequent to his arrest was read to show it mentioned only part of the pledge Taggart made for his release and in other parts seemed biased and in conflict with Miner's testimony.

Attorney Sterling for Taggart, held up a copy of the Miner report containing the admittedly incorrect record of Taggart's standing. "Habits not good," he read. Miner admitted that this record was based on one instance of Captain Moore's report. This trouble, he admitted, was after the expiration of the year for which the report was made. Taggart's formal charges against Miner, filed with the war department, were made public for the first time when read in court to Miner. The charges were prepared a short time after the trouble at Fort Leavenworth. Miner is charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. The specifications refer to the dinner party pinching incident, say that Miner took improper liberties with Mrs. Taggart, went to Mrs. Taggart's house in the absence of Taggart and remained some time and that Miner while walking at Fort Leavenworth with Mrs. Taggart acted imprudently. Another specification charges that a few days before Taggart's imprisonment Miner proposed to call on Mrs. Taggart in the absence of her husband and cautioned her to call him by telephone at his office saying he would come by a back way so as not to be seen.

PRESENT OBJECTIVE OF THE JAPANESE FORCES.

Against which the Japanese land and sea forces are now campaigning which promises to be as bitter as that against Port Arthur. The harbor, while a very fine one, is more vulnerable than that of Port Arthur. It is well provided with batteries, and the surrounding eminences make it difficult of approach from the sea.

GERMAN GLEANINGS.

The Berlin municipality has decided to establish public sun and light baths, at which first, second and third class fees will be charged.

Pet dogs in sunbathes and blue glass spectacles are to be seen following their owners through the streets of Berlin in hot weather.

A lion and a lioness in the zoo at Frankfurt, Germany, roared in terror and tremblingly crouched in a corner of their cage because a ferret had accidentally entered it.

Franz Krause, who plunged the blade of a penknife into an elephant's trunk at the Elbebeck menagerie, Hamburg, was seized by the infuriated animal and buried with terrific force against a brick wall. Krause had his legs broken, and he died the same evening.

The municipal authorities of Hanover, Germany, have prohibited motor cars from approaching within twenty miles of the town on the ground that the "speed-ferret" has an "infectious influence" upon cab and tram car drivers and causes them to drive to the public danger.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Sarah Bernhardt's American tour begins in New York in November.

The announcement made by Charles Frohman that he was going to produce this season an unusually large number of American plays was a welcome one.

Marie Booth Russell, Harry Leighton, Emily Dodd and Giles Shine have been engaged by William A. Brady as principals in support of Robert B. Mantell this season.

Victor Herbert has sent to Miss Lulu Glaser a new waltz, which he wants made an added number to the score he finished some time ago for the musical comedy "Miss Dolly Dollars."

Joseph Sheehan, the well known tenor of the English Grand Opera company, was signed recently to continue with that organization. Mr. Sheehan will alternate the leading tenor roles with Francis McManus.

Richard Golden has been engaged by Henry W. Savage to play the leading role in the new George Ade comedy, "The Bad Samaritan," which will be given an early fall production at the Garden theater, New York.

The Shuberts have purchased from Agnes and Egerton Castle the dramatic rights to their novel, "The Secret Orchard." Channing Pollard, whose stage version of "In the Bishop's Carriage" was produced at Hartford, will make the adaptation.

All He Would Ask.

"Would you," she asked, "marry a woman who made her own dresses?" "You bet I would—if I could have any assurance that she'd keep on making them!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

AN ENEMY OF THE LAND GRAFTERS.

One of the most bitter enemies of the land grafters is Jesse E. Wilson, the assistant secretary of the interior. He was born in Owen county, Ind., and is only thirty-eight years of age. Mr. Wilson, who is the sixth in a family of eleven children, attended school, clerked in a store and taught school. With his savings he studied law and since 1895 has practiced in Rensselaer, Ind.

down the back until thoroughly dry, then brush it gently for a few minutes. Now take the comb and a small quantity of hair, beginning at the ends to remove the tangles, working toward the head.

Do not torture the poor children with curling irons; there is no use in trying to make straight hair anything but straight, and the least bit of dampness undoes all your work. You can, however, make straight hair silky, shiny and beautiful simply by giving it plenty of good care.

If the hair is falling, cut as little meat as possible and all the fresh eggs, vegetables and fruit you can. Diet has more to do with the hair than is generally supposed.

Never use a fine comb—it is injurious to head and hair—but brush the hair as much as possible; it makes it glossy. And there is a right way of brushing the hair too. The brush must be grasped firmly in the right hand, and the hair held loosely in the left; then go from the forehead to the ends of the hair evenly, so as not to cause tangles.

The Scented Garden.

Many notes as to value of fragrance, its disinfecting properties and uses to the human race as well as to insects and even to animals, are given in "The Book of the Scented Garden." It is not generally known that atmospheric heat is absorbed far more quickly by odorous vapors than by unperfumed air, especially by cassia, which cools the air more than a hundred times as quickly, and even the scent of lemon or rosemary more than sixty-eight times as much as ordinary air containing no perfume. A practical detail of much value at the present season is this—that all insects detect the scent of lavender and fly from it, midges, moths and other troublesome flies being easily kept at a distance by the use of this refreshing scent.

When You Go to the Country.

When you go to the country select a place that is mountainous or hilly, or, at any rate, has a good elevation. A pine wood region is also healthful, even if it is only of moderate elevation. So also is the seashore.

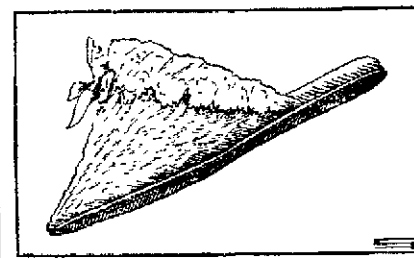

When you go to the country get all the ozone you can into your lungs. Remember that the chief reason for going away from your comfortable home is to get a change of air.

When you are in the country go out into the open; spend all your time out of doors. Don't sit indoors, knitting, crocheting and gossiping. You can do that at home. Get outside and stay there.

Useful Crochet Work.

For a bath slipper, illustrated in the New Idea Magazine, the following instructions are given:

Use knitting cotton No. 4 and either a coarse steel or medium size bone crochet needle. Begin with three chain, work a single crochet into each one, taking up the back of each stitch so as to form a rib. Turn, work across the row the same as before, only increase or widen by putting three stitches into the center stitch. Repeat (always widening in the center) until there are twenty rows.

To shape the sides, crochet up to within four stitches of the center, turn and go back. Decrease in this way every other row until there are only two stitches left.

The edge or scallop is made of three chain, three double crochet, three chain, three double crochet, etc., all across the top. Run a narrow ribbon through and turn the point over, as shown in the illustration.

Sew to a pair of lamb's wool soles.

Candied Sweet Potatoes.

Parboiled sweet potatoes, cut them lengthwise, lay in a baking dish, sprinkle thickly with brown sugar and powdered cinnamon and cover liberally with lumps of butter. Pour over them water enough to moisten the sugar and bake in an oven, basting frequently with the rich sauce that will soon form.

Rest the Eyes.

The eyes should be rested for a few minutes when the sight becomes in the least blurred. Never sew on dark cloth after night, and, if sewing must be done by artificial light, have the table spread with a white cloth.

Hamlet's Grave.

I bought a photograph of Hamlet's grave in a shop in Elsinore. I asked the young woman who sold it to me if she had any doubt of the truth of the thing. "Was it really Hamlet's grave?"

She seemed shocked that I could even hint at skepticism on such a subject and would have put the photograph aside for a more worthy purchaser had I not interfered. As if to overwhelm me with evidence and the more to pique my unbelieving nature, she would fain also have found for me a picture of the brook in which poor Ophelia drowned herself. It was somewhere in the shop, she was sure. I urged her to seek for it, but she sought in vain. "It is a very little river, sir," she said as if to excuse herself for being unable to discover its photograph. I am sorry, truly sorry, I cannot put poor Ophelia's brook in my album of curiosities side by side with Hamlet's tombstone.—Chambers' Journal.

SHOCK FOR SULLIVAN

Paris Sights Startled Congressman From New York.

GAVE HIM THE CREEFS, HE SAYS

"Big Tim" Declares if "Old Nick" is Allowed Any Freedom on Earth He Has Taken His Holiday in the French Capital—Regards New York Away Ahead in Morals.

Congressman Timothy D. Sullivan of New York, who recently arrived home from abroad, wrote a letter to a friend in New York, in which he describes the remarkable sights he saw in Paris. Some of the best parts of "Big Tim's" letter are here reproduced, says the New York Journal:

"We have arrived in France, and it certainly is a beautiful place. The first evening we had dinner at one of the most attractive places I ever visited—Armonville, in the outskirts of the city.

"On our journey I got my first idea of Paris. We stopped on the way at the Jardin de l'Alais, a sort of music hall. They charge $1 admission, or 5 francs. A dance is given which would land the whole business in the Tombs in New York. Later on I found out this was a very decent place when you measure it by the others.

"The next day was Sunday, but there is no such thing as Sunday in Paris—not our Sunday. We visited the race course in the afternoon—Maison La Fite, it was called—and it was one of the most delightful places I ever was in, with fine accommodations for the public; not like England. I saw many of our American boys who were riding there; also Eugene Leigh, who is considered the most successful trainer here now.

"The same evening we went to some of the resorts, and Sunday apparently had entirely disappeared. Every day you can visit places here of great interest, and the night is livelier than the day. How they stand it I don't know.

"Kessler called on us and invited us to visit the castle of Versailles the next day. He came with two of the finest autos in the world, one piloted by the famous Fournier, the ex-champion cyclist and in my opinion the greatest auto driver in the world.

"We stopped at Kessler's home and had a midday lunch of such a quality and excellent service that I would not like to state for the reason that my old Boverly boys might say I did not have such kind of dishes when I sat at John A. Meehan's or Mike Lyons'. Then Mr. Kessler brought us to his new house, which he is building at a cost of $2,000,000. We left in the cars for Versailles, and he showed us some speed, more than I wanted, but I was not going to let any Frenchman see me weaken, so I took the ride smilingly, although at some places we were going at seventy-five miles an hour.

"We arrived at the palace, and, oh, what a palace it is. A person could stay there a month and still have rooms to see. I cannot describe one-half of it, as I have not time, but I never thought there was anything so magnificent in the world. We visited all the different rooms with a private guide. Mme. du Barry, Louis XV. and all of the other historic chambers were visited. The furnishings are splendid, and the gardens and fountains are kept up just the same as in the days when those famous people lived.

"After leaving we halted and saw the beautiful view from St. Germain, which is hundreds of feet high. From it the landscape of all Paris and the Seine, with its valley, lies before you, and I can say it is most magnificent. We then stopped at Almonville and from there rode to the Grand hotel here (Paris).

"After a short rest we visited the cheaper part of Paris, where we had a splendid dinner. We then went to the Moulin Rouge, where they give a variety performance. There is a promise made there, where the ladies execute that dancing which is known only in Paris, and you cannot tell whether they are on their head or their heels.

"We also visited the Cafe Le Mort, where the waiters are dressed as undertakers and chant death songs as you enter and each man holds a wax taper in front of him, with a coffin for a table.

"There were ladies there, all sight seeing, and I wondered how they stood it. It gave me the creeps. Then we visited other resorts, and I wish to say right here I am for a liberal city; but, being a New Yorker, I am glad New York is not Paris. I would sooner have the city at the bottom of the river.

"In visiting around Paris I saw a few gentlemen who figured very prominently in reform movements in New York city. They were not personal reformers here by any means, so they must need reform at home.

"While everything over here (Paris) has been fine and it is a great education to see those places, for my part we have been away long enough, and now we cannot get home any too soon to suit me. Ireland gave the impression that if there was any good in you it seemed to bring it out of you. Somehow or other a feeling of sadness came over me.

"England gives a commercial feeling with their eyes to the main chance all the time. The Scotch are a hard people to get talking to. Then they are all kindness to serve you after you know them if it did not cost anything.

"Paris—the less said about it the better for Paris, outside of its beauty. But if 'Old Nick' is allowed any freedom on earth he has taken his holiday in Paris."
